This week, we are beginning to study influential African Americans in honor of Black History month. Please be on the lookout tomorrow for a sheet to help your student choose the individual they would like to research. Most research will be done at school, however, some work on the project will also need to be done at home. I will send more information home later this week.

Students received a new reading log this week. It will be due Friday, February 17th. I am partnering with Braum's Ice Cream store and giving stickers to students who turn in a complete, signed and on time. They can earn free ice cream for reading! We are also beginning to work with STARS reading. It is a great test prep book that we will use every Friday. Testing will be here before we know it, and this is a great way to prepare early.

This week they are working hard on practicing long division with dividing a 3 digit number by a one digit number. We are also going to continue adding and subtracting fractions and mixed numbers with the same denominator. Our next stop will be connecting fractions to decimals.

HW: Monday Math!

This week we will review the Southwest and Southeast Region of the United States. Please make sure you are reviewing the states and capitals each day with your child. We are also preparing for our new PLTW Unit, The Human Body.

HW: Review States and Capitals flashcards.

I will start back using the ClassDojo app for behavior management. If you are not signed up, please let me know and I will send home a sign-up sheet for you and your child. Please keep an eye out for announcements and behavior alerts.
